Edge Recording Manager for Mac showing different language?

Release Date: 1/9/2015

Applied to

GV-ERM for Mac V1000

Question

Edge recording UI shows up in a different language, how can I set the UI language?

Answer

Edge Recording Manager for Mac does not support configuring language. The program will automatically detect the language configure on the OS and display supported language. For example, Dutch is currently not supported and may show up in French or Japanese. In order to set the UI language to supported one such as English, please configure Mac language setting and set English as the second language as shown in the example below.

In this example, English will be used as the UI language as Dutch is not supported.
